For God's sake back off and let the market place decide. We have the job-eating asbestos blob- which the government should have restrained years ago- a veritable slush fund for tort lawyers - and which has caused numerous bankruptcy of many companies, past, present and future. We have the ridiculous and extremely costly dredging of the Hudson River by the government. We have faked lynx hairs by the Federal Parks and Wildlife Agency to shut down huge area of the Western States. We have a lousy accounting system that the Congress refused to correct years ago when it was being urged to do so. It would be refreshing if the Government addressed these problems, along with the hopelessly complex IRS situation, before again harrasing one of the really successul entrepreneurs
John McCulloch.
